PREFACE

In the contemporary period ,science has made great advances ,which have influence all branches of human knowledge . A student of Zoology can acquire a prospective of all natural habitats ,only by studying the various factors of environment surrounding the biotic components .This line of study can be pursued by only through field observation .

In the course of tour , we had the opportunity to study different flora and fauna and their habitats which are related to our subject. This report presents a comprehensive account of the study we made.

CERTIFICATE

This is to certify that the field report, submitted by Roll No: ..27.62.00.1 and Reg. No: ..22049.02 of B.Sc. 1st Semester, Department Zoology, Joya Gogoi College, Khumtai, Golaghat, Assam in partial fulfilment of the Syllabus under course number ZC102P Practical Courses under the said University is a bonafide piece of off-Laboratory field survey report.
